

Can I obtain government resources for my special needs child?

Which local organizations are out there that can address my needs?

Can I connect with other parents going through this?

Agudah Maryland is proud to announce the opening of

Yahalom Maryland

Parents of a special needs child don't always know where to turn, whom to call, and what to ask.

As part of the growing national Yahalom network, Yahalom MD is here to serve as a collaborative resource working alongside our community organizations.

Yahalom MD aims to help parents by answering questions and guiding them to ensure they are equipped with all the necessary information that is available to make their diamonds shine.
